

Brad Smith
Finance Director, U.S.

Brad Smith is Finance Director in the U.S. As a part of UCB's Global Business Services, Brad leads a team responsible for the financial operations across the U.S. market, including accounting, reporting, and Order to Cash and Source to Pay functions, as well as provides financial planning and analysis support for UCB's U.S. commercial business. As a member of the U.S. leadership team, Brad is committed to supporting UCB's mission to deliver value for patients through agile and efficient financial operations and management.

Brad has broad finance experience in accounting, auditing, and financial management with an emphasis in operations. Prior to UCB, he has held leadership roles across a variety of industries, including wireless telecommunications, broadband cable, consumer products, and most recently in printing/graphic arts. His contributions involved extensive work with global companies, both in working with a U.S. parent company with overseas operations as well as with a U.S. subsidiary of a European publicly traded company. Brad began his career in Ernst and Young's audit practice.

Brad holds a BBA in Accounting from the University of Georgia. He enjoys spending time with family, the outdoors, and staying active in the local community.
